DESPERATE PUTIN SENDS DONKEYS INTO BATTLE!

What an ass...

By COLIN HURST

EVIL Vlad Putin is now sending DONKEYS to the front line in Ukraine – in a desperate bid to avoid high-tech attacks on his supply columns.

The tactic has drawn ridicule from Kyiv – saying this is evidence Moscow is low on trucks and armoured vehicles, and forced to rely on low-tech solutions.

Crossbow killer gets life in jail

TRIPLE crossbow and knife killer Kyle Clifford has been handed a whole-life order, as a judge described him as a "jealous man soaked in self pity".

Clifford, 26, refused to face the family of his victims – his ex-partner Louise Hunt, 25, her sister Hannah Hunt, 28, and their mother Carol Hunt, 61.

At Cambridge Crown Court on Tuesday, Mr Justice Bennathan said of Clifford: "The evidence I have heard shows you to be a jealous man soaked in self-pity, a man who holds women in utter contempt."

"This is no occasion to subject family and friends of your victims to any delay or suspense."

"I therefore make clear at once that for each of these three murders, the sentence will be one of life imprisonment with a whole-life order."

"That means a sentence from which you will never be released."

'Plagues' of rats in Brum

NEARLY 400 council bin workers in Birmingham have walked out indefinitely as part of an escalating dispute over jobs and pay – and residents have reported plagues of rats in the already-unpleasant city.

The Unite union has warned bin disruption in the city could stretch into the summer after refuse workers voted in favour of extending their strike.

The union's national lead officer, Onay Kasab, said: "The council could end this dispute tomorrow by agreeing to pay a decent rate of pay."

Massive drone attack on Russia ahead of peace talks

UKRAINE BLITZES MOSCOW

UKRAINE attacked Moscow with drones ahead of its peace talks with the United States, in what appears to be the biggest Ukrainian drone strike on Russia in three years.

One person was killed and multiple were injured in the attack, local officials said, and flights were suspended at two of Moscow's airports, Domodedovo and Zhukovsky, as 337 drones were shot down across the country.

The attack came on the day of crucial negotiations between the US and Ukraine in Saudi Arabia, in which Kyiv is set to propose a partial ceasefire with Russia.

The proposal for the truce is expected to cover the Black Sea, long-range missile strikes, as well as the release of prisoners, two senior Ukrainian officials said.

The talks in Jeddah between Ukraine's negotiating team and Marco Rubio, the US secretary of state, will be the most senior since Donald Trump and Volodymyr Zelensky's disastrous White House meeting on Feb 28.

Mr Rubio on Monday suggested that Ukraine may need to cede land to Moscow as part of an agreement to end the war.

He said: "I think both sides need to come to an understanding that there's no military solution to this situation. Hopefully, we'll have a good meeting and good news to report."

Mr Zelensky, who met with the kingdom's crown prince on Monday night, said he hoped for "practical outcomes" from negotiations.

Parts of NHS could be halved

PLANS to cut staff numbers in half at NHS England and the Department of Health and Social Care have been unveiled amid drastic cost-cutting measures.

The 'bonfire of bureaucrats' is aimed at removing duplication across the organisations.

Health secretary Wes Streeting is also seeking to tighten his control over the NHS.

Three more NHS England board members announced they will quit at the end of this month, following the recent resignations of chief executive Amanda Pritchard and national medical director Professor Sir Stephen Powis.

NHS England is the national quango tasked with overseeing the day to day running of the health service and its long-term strategy. It was established by the Tories in 2013 to give it greater political independence but Mr Streeting is keen to regain tighter control.

NHS England said in a statement: "The size of NHS England will be radically reduced and could decrease by around half."

Woke BBC pays minorities more

BBC penpushers from minority backgrounds are more highly paid than their peers, official data reveals.

Annual report figures show that ethnic minority, LGBT, disabled and female senior bosses get paid more than people who are not from these categories.

This has sparked criticism that, despite the BBC having a commitment to equal pay, it is now overseeing 'reverse pay gaps'.

The BBC's target for 'diverse leadership' for 2021-2023 aimed at making sure 50 per cent of senior positions were held by women. At least 20 per cent were to be held by black, Asian or minority ethnic staff and 12 per cent by disabled workers.

As jet fuel fire continues to rage in North Sea...

WAS CYANIDE SHIP CRASHED ON PURPOSE?

FOUL PLAY NOT RULED OUT: Crash between US military tanker and container ship out in North Sea

EXPERTS say they have not ruled out foul play as the cause of a crash between a US military tanker and a container ship in the North Sea.

The MV Solong cargo vessel struck the US-chartered Stena Immaculate off the coast of Humberside shortly before 10am on Monday – triggering many explosions.

The Stena Immaculate was on a short-term charter to the US Navy's Military Sealift Command and was carrying around 35 million litres of Jet A-1, a type of aviation fuel, from a refinery in Greece while

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

the Solong, a Portuguese-flagged vessel, was carrying 15 containers of toxic sodium cyanide.

The US ship is believed to have been carrying fuel for American military use.

That has led to fears the Solong's navigational aids were hacked and it was driven deliberately into the Stena Immaculate.

A Government source said early investigations did not indicate that the incident was caused by foul play, but it could not be ruled out at this stage.

Downing Street said the collision and subsequent chemical spill was "extremely concerning", while the coastguard said it was assessing the "likely counter-pollution response required".

Marine experts also raised concerns that such a collision involving a US vessel may not have been accidental, but said the foggy weather may also have been a factor.

Casualties

The UK's Maritime and Coastguard Agency sent several helicopters and lifeboats to rescue crewmen, with 36 casualties brought ashore.

A search for one crewman from the Solong who was still unaccounted for was called off in the early hours of Tuesday.

Government officials are said to have blocked ships from leaving all ports along the east coast, while a three-mile air exclusion zone was imposed over the site during the rescue operation.

The Solong, which was sailing from Grangemouth, on the Firth of Forth, to Rotterdam, had 14 crew aboard and is owned by Ernst Russ, a German company based in Hamburg.

The US-flagged Immaculate, carrying 23 mariners, is managed by Crowley, a Florida-based maritime logistics company. Its registered owner is Stena Bulk Marine Services, based in Gothenburg, Sweden.

Colombia demands UN give green light to drug ingredient

LEGALISE COCAINE!

COLOMBIA has urged the UN to remove cocaine's main ingredient from its list of harmful substances, after its president said the drug is 'no worse than whiskey'.

The country is the world's biggest cocaine producer and exporter, with drug cartels and violent guerrilla groups mainly sending the illegal drug to the United States and Europe, and has spent decades fighting against drug trafficking.

But since president Gustavo Petro took office as the country's first socialist leader, the nation appears to have changed tack.

Colombian Foreign Minister Laura Sarabia, in an address to the UN's Commission on Narcotic Drugs in Vienna, insisted that the coca leaf, cocaine's main ingredient, 'is itself not harmful to health'.

She said that legalisation was the only way to stop traffickers monopolising the plant – forcing rural communities to grow it for them.

President Petro raised eyebrows last month after saying: "Cocaine is illegal because it is made in Latin America, not because it is worse than whisky."

KYLIE'S BUTT PLUG HELL

HEAVEN SCENT:
Kylie

POOR little poppet Kylie Jenner was only trying to flog some perfume...

But she was beset by vile BUTT PLUG jibes!

The 27-year-old reality TV star and makeup mogul shared images for the launch of her Cosmic 2.0 fragrance on Insta.

She wore her black hair down as she held on to an oversized bottle of the scent.

The busty brunette wrote in her caption: "My new fragrance Cosmic 2.0 is available now."

Some followers said in the comments section that the bottle has an "unusual shape" – with a few even cheekily suggesting it resembles an "anal sex toy".

And another added: "Very naughty shape of bottle!"

Then there was this very crude comment: "That is a MASSIVE butt plug!"

The latest addition to Kylie's beauty empire is vegan.

And the beauty has said it is important for her team to opt for "clean and vegan" items.

She said: "My team and I have done lots of research on safe and clean ingredients."

"But if she ever does, I'd quite like to see that happen please."

X HIT BY 'UKRAINE'

TECH billionaire Elon Musk has revealed the "massive cyber attack" that took down his social media app Twitter on Monday originated in Ukraine.

His bombshell revelation followed repeated glitches with the site, which was affected for much of the day.

The 53-year-old said: "Well, we're not sure exactly what happened. But there was a massive cyber attack to try to bring down the X (what Musk calls Twitter) system with IP addresses originating in Ukraine."

Musk had confirmed earlier in the day that Twitter was being targeted.

He also noted that the social media site is now back up and running.

His statement came after the platform had been down for users worldwide.

They had complained about issues with the app and website since early on Monday morning.

Musk (right) did not offer any other details on the attack, which is said to have impacted the app's 600 million active monthly users.

Yank Bond really takes the Pierce

FORMER James Bond star Pierce Brosnan says the next 007 actor should not be American – after Amazon's recent takeover of the beloved British spy franchise.

Pierce, 71 (above), said it was a "given" that Daniel Craig's successor should be British, amid rumours a Yank could be tipped for the role.

The Irishman also said he "lamented" the takeover and that long-time custodians Barbara Broccoli and Michael G Wilson showed "great courage" in handing creative control to the US firm after around 30 years.

Brosnan, who played Bond in four films from 1995 to 2002, added that "no one really knows" what will happen to 007 in Amazon's control.

He said: "GoldenEye was such a success that it continued and went from strength to strength... everything changes, everything falls apart, and I wish them well."

Cattle shortage raises the steaks

BEEF prices are soaring across Britain as a cattle shortage pushes the cost of steak to record highs.

Restaurant owners and butchers have warned of significant price increases because of a supply crisis amid growing demand for red meat.

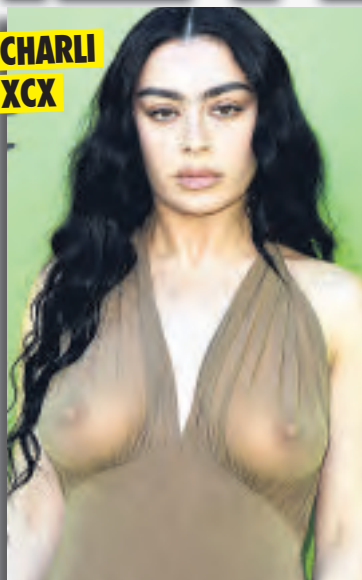

Amir Batito, co-founder of Epicurus and The Black Cow restaurants in fancy London, said he is set to raise his steak prices by as much as 40%, and is charging an extra £2 for a burger – up from £13.

CALM down dear, it's just a pair of nipples!

Paris Jackson has hit back after receiving criticism for wearing a see-thru black dress to Stella McCartney's recent Paris Fashion Week show.

The off-the-shoulder number from McCartney's Spring Collection left little to the imagination.

But the daughter of dead pop nonce Michael Jackson was not the only model who dared to bare.

Ice Spice wore a sheer black lace body suit from the collection to the same event.

Flak

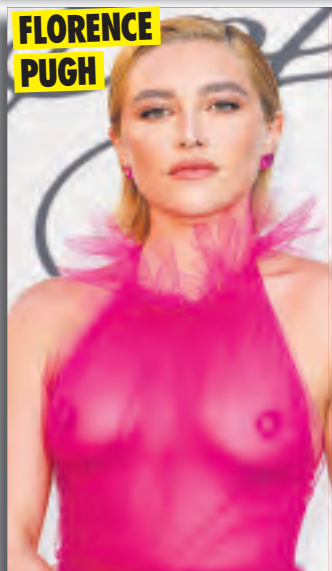

Paris, 26, also made a series of videos in her hotel room, where she discussed receiving "a good amount of flak" for her daring outfit.

She said: "I would just like to point out that we're animals. At one point, we abided by the laws of nature."

"People get really uncomfortable when they're reminded that we are animals."

Cocktail of drugs kills actor Paul

HOLLYOAKS star Paul Danan died from a cocktail of drugs – including cocaine and heroin – a coroner has heard.

The actor, 46 (above), played Sol Patrick from 1997 to 2001 on the Channel 4 teen soap.

He was also later known for his reality TV appearances, including on Celebrity Big Brother and Celebrity Love Island.

An inquest into Mr Danan's death was opened and adjourned before Maria Voisin, senior coroner for Avon, at Avon Coroner's Court yesterday.

Coroner's officer Alexis Camp told the hearing Mr Danan was pronounced dead at his home in Brislington, Bristol, at 5.20pm on January 15. His body was identified at the scene by his partner, Melissa Crooks.

Ms Camp said: "The circumstances are that Mr Danan was found unresponsive at his home address.

"Emergency services attended and confirmed he had sadly died.

"A post-mortem has taken place and samples have been removed for further analysis."

The court heard that the provisional cause of Danan's death is combined toxicity of heroin, methadone, codeine, pregabalin, cocaine and zopiclone, contributed to by benzodiazepine use.

15% of Brit sex crime by foreigners

FOREIGNERS are being convicted of up to a quarter of sex crimes, according to the first data analysis of its kind.

Data from the Ministry of Justice, obtained under freedom of information laws, show that 15% of sexual offences, including rape, were accounted for by foreign nationals between 2021 and 2023.

And a further 8% of convictions were recorded as unknown nationalities.

Those labelled as "unknown" are likely to largely include non-British nationals, taking the total number to have been committed by foreigners up to 23%.

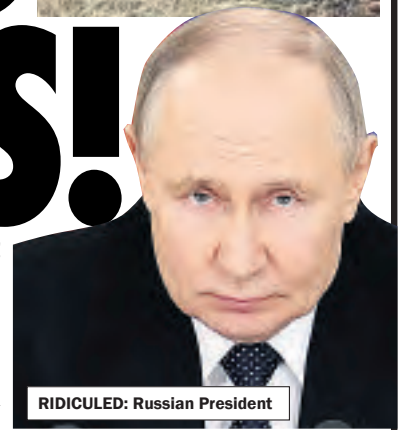

This is despite census data showing foreign nationals make up just 9.3% of the population.

Two nationalities – Afghans and Eritreans – were more than 20 times more likely to account for sex offence convictions than British citizens, the data shows.

Overall, foreign nationals were 71% more likely than Britons to be responsible for sex crime convictions.

Desperate Russian boss Putin sends DONKEYS into battle

ON HIS ASS!

RIDICULED: Russian President

EVIL Vlad Putin is sending DONKEYS to the front line in Ukraine – to try to avoid high-tech attacks on his supply columns.

The Kremlin has also drafted in horses and mules to help transport troops and supplies on the battlefield.

The tactic has drawn ridicule from Kyiv – who claim this is clear evidence that Moscow is running out of trucks and armoured vehicles, and forced to rely on low-tech solutions.

Mocked

Anton Gerashchenko, a former adviser to Ukraine's minister of internal affairs, also mocked the tactic on Twitter as he posted a video showing soldiers from Sakha Republic in Russia's far east all on horseback.

"Rolling back to the times of the Russian Empire – complete with cavalry and drafting representatives of national minorities as cannon fodder," he said.

Ukrainian Army Sgt Ihor Vizirenko was one of the commanders who first saw the trotting horses and donkeys on the frontline near the city of Chasiv Yar – which he has been defending for almost a year.

With the war being dominated by drones and heavy artillery, Vizirenko said both sides have had to innovate to get past the others' defences.

But he was shocked when he spotted one of the Russian horses.

"The Russians are quite creative," he said. "But then [motor] bikes being used in assault took us by surprise – so who knows? A horse would run faster than a man in a field."

But Lt Gen Viktor Sobolev, a member of the Russian State Duma's Defence Committee, said the critics should get off their high horses about the use of pack animals. He told Russian media the horses and donkeys are useful in traversing the muddy countryside and forests, with the animals costing less than if a resupply vehicle were deployed with several soldiers, and then taken out.

Old-fashioned

Experts, however, say the old-fashioned tactic seems to have been born more out of desperation than creativity.

Phillips O'Brien, a professor of strategic studies at St Andrews University, said: "I'm really not sure that the resuscitation of old technology – nets, shotguns, horses – is out of choice.

"They are desperate attempts to cope with unmanned aerial vehicles."

Britney: I drink 'cos I'm weird

BRITNEY Spears says she hits the bottle to cope with heartache in a candid Instagram post.

Britney, 43, took to Insta to talk about her conservatorship – a legal arrangement forced on her by family members worried she could not run her own life.

Britney also said she had been 'abused 100%' during the years-long legal arrangement and described how her life was 'controlled' during this time period.

She also claimed she was 'abused' every time she spoke out against the treatment she received during the arrangement.

The arrangement began in 2008 and officially ended in 2021.

"HOLY GRAIL!!! I'm not lying though. I don't like drinking. I do it for my heart when it's been through too much but I'm weird," she began in the post.

"I take on a lot of pain. I honestly shouldn't and I put it in a lot of work people will never see... I'm posting this now because the language we speak today, our generation about technology in secret is TRASH, admit it!!!"

No butts, it can't be butter

NOW killjoy boffins claims that BUTTER will kill you STONE DEAD!

Researchers from the Harvard Medical School discovered that people who eat the most butter are 15 per cent more likely to die – of any cause – than those who eat the least.

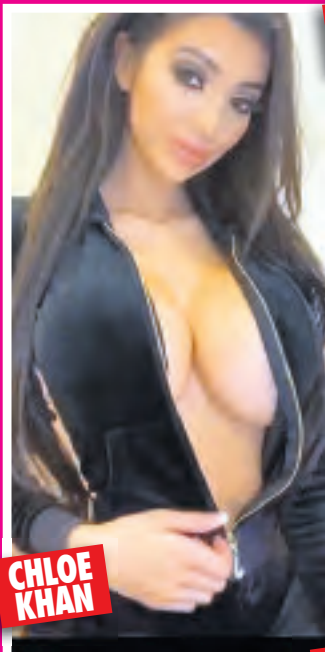

But having a high intake of plant-based oils – such as corn, olive and rapeseed – appeared to make people healthier.

Tracking more than 221,000 Americans over a 50 year period, scientists analysing people's diets by using food questionnaires made a groundbreaking discovery.

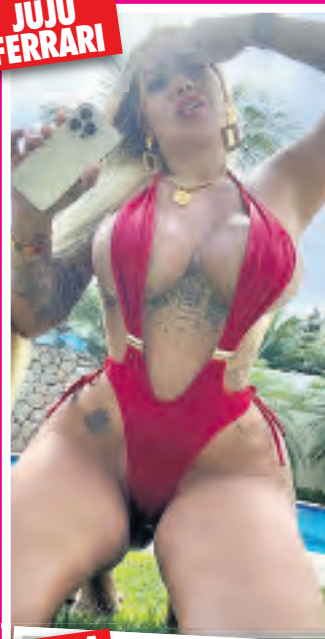

Swapping butter for plant-based oils – of any type – made people almost 20 per cent less likely to die.

In fact, every 10g per day increase in plant-based oils lowered the risk of death from cancer by 11 per cent and decreased heart disease death risk by six per cent.

"This is an important study that shows that people who choose to eat butter don't live as long as those who eat vegetable oils," said Dr Tom Sanders, a professor at King's College London.

Church hit by more woke nonsense... NOW PRAYING IS RACIST!

By HARPER HAYES news@sundaysport.co.uk

NOW saying your PRAYERS is racist, according to woke new Church of England rules.

Christians should avoid "Eurocentric" prayers in order to be more inclusive, according to guidance from one diocese.

Parishes in the Diocese of Norwich have been issued with an "anti-racist toolkit" to ensure they support diversity and inclusion plans backed by senior clergy.

The guidance tells Church of England priests to avoid asking for God's help with problems affecting only Europe and Europeans.

The toolkit states that clergy should "ensure that intercessions are aligned with the concerns of the congregation and are not entirely Eurocentric".

Prayers of intercession are those in which believers ask for divine help with a particular issue.

The guidance for parishes in largely rural East Anglia advises that priests should look to "include different languages and topics in the prayers".

The anti-racism toolkit, drawn up by Norwich Diocese's Racial Justice Action Group, offers an example of an inclusive prayer priests could use in their services.

It calls on God to

CAREFUL NOW: The Bishop of Norwich doesn't want to leave anybody out

"open our hearts, that we may be bold in finding the riches of inclusion and the treasures of diversity among us".

The guidance says that priests could launch a "Collect for Racial Justice Sunday", with a specific prayer for the collection imploring: "Stir the hearts of your people that, rejoicing in our diversity, we may repent of the wrongs of the past."

Priests looking for further prayer ideas are directed to a website called PrayerCast, which offers ideas for prayers relating to others from Angola to Mongolia.

The independent website also urges visitors to "pray for Muslims" during Ramadan.

The guidance backed by the Rt Rev Graham Usher, the Bishop of Norwich, also directs clergy to "become aware of biases and privileges".

It advises "mono-cultural" parishes should include printed and digital media reflecting diversity, even if there is no diversity in the parish.

Norfolk, covered by the diocese, is roughly 94 per cent white.

Heath posters dog bummers

DOG walkers and bummers are at daggers drawn on London's Hampstead Heath.

The dog walkers have been branded homophobes for trying to stop gay men "cruising" for bum sex on the Heath.

The popular walking spot has been at the centre of a row after residents put up signs to deter gay men hooking up for sex at "the fk tree" and other locations that could be near playing children.

Hampstead Heath has been a popular spot for al fresco man fun since Victorian times, and the practice has continued since homosexuality was decriminalised in 1967.

Opponents of the posters have now hit back with claims they embolden homophobia and perpetuate "inaccurate stereotypes" about bumming.

Patricia calls out Peeping Toms on set

HOLLYWOOD star Patricia Arquette says she threatened to punch a film crew member after they lingered on set to catch a glimpse of her in the buff as part of a sex scene.

The film was David Lynch's 1997 Lost Highway in which Patricia (above) played Renee Madison and Alice Wakefield.

In one scene, Alice seduces a character Pete Dayton (Balthazar Getty), and despite it being a closed set, crew hung about to see some celeb boob and fanny.

Patricia, now 56, said: "Everyone kept saying, 'OK, closed set. There's going to be nudity... walk away if we don't need you in this part'."

Robe

"They kept saying that, and there was still a lot of people on the set. And so I had a robe on, and I was like, 'OK, guys, I just want to say something. I'm about to take this robe off, and when I take this robe off, if I turn around and I see you there, and I know you don't need to be here, I'm going to walk over and punch you in the f*cking face'."

"Then 15 people ran away. People are jerks, that's all I could say!"

Hairy trans warning to NHS teams

NHS bosses have ordered staff to call crossdressing male staff "women" - even if they have beards.

Official guidance from NHS Scotland states employees must always use the correct name and pronouns for "transgender" colleagues.

One training scenario used by the health service asked workers to consider the fictional case of a 29-year-old nurse calling himself 'Lucy'.

The character is said to be yet-to formally change his name from Lee and is "still producing visible facial hair".

The training module explained that some staff have been hesitant to correct patients who are still using male terms to refer to Lucy.

The fictional scenario is understood to have concluded with workers being told "discrimination against Lucy will not be tolerated".

It adds that under equality law, Lucy's rights are protected and that staff must use "correct name and pronouns".

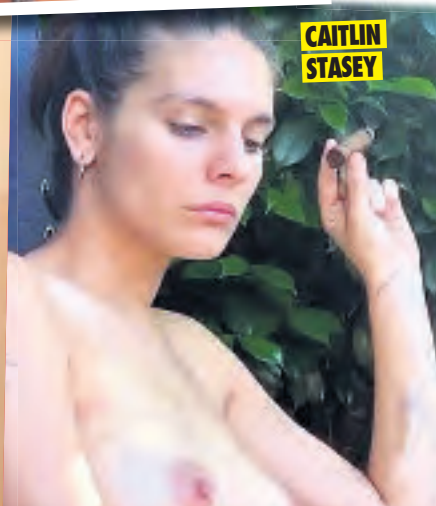

Meanwhile, Scottish Tories slammed the training module as "ludicrous" and "nonsensical".

BUM COP BOOTED OFF SEX CRIMES SQUAD

NICE TWERK IF YOU CAN GET
IT: Melissa in
and in video

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A COP who bared her ARSE in a rap vid while twerking in a thong and bra has got the boot from a specialist sex crimes unit.

Melissa Mercado, an officer in the Special Victim's Unit in the Bronx, New York, danced in the raunchy music video for hip hop artist S-Quire.

The viral video for his song Doin' That features the NYPD cop gyrating around a pole, giving the rapper a lap dance, and crawling on the floor of a strip club while showered in cash.

As the 28-year-old showed off her curves, S-Quire ogled the officer – who has been with the NYPD for seven years – while spitting X-rated lyrics.

These include: "Ass is thick, just want to smash it quick," and "I like the way she doin' that, the way she sliding up the pole."

Mercado's identity only came to light when the video went viral – with 1.4 million views in a month – and she was recognised by fellow officers, who slammed her actions.

The NYPD has yet to comment on whether Mercado has broken any specific rules. But as her antics are under review, she's been removed from a squad investigating sex crimes and looking after victims.

It was particularly disturbing for a sex crimes investigator to make a video that's degrading to women, said retired NYPD Special Victims Division Unit chief Michael Osgood.

"I think this conduct is unbecoming of a police officer," he added.

"I find it wrong, morally, if you're a special victims detective."

HS2 blow £20k
on Lego station

BOSSSES at HS2 spunked £20k of taxpayers' money on Lego – to build a model of the proposed Old Oak Common railway station.

The facility will be "a new transport superhub" in west London, with 14 platforms carrying what officials hope will be 250,000 passengers a day to Birmingham.

HS2 paid consultants Bricks McGee to create the planned site using 15,000 plastic Lego blocks – at a cost of more than a quid per brick.

The model's been used at just 20 PR events in two years since it was made.

HS2 is currently set to cost the taxpayer more than £80 billion by the time the full-scale railway line opens at some point in the 2030s.

KID CALLS POLICE ON 'THIEF' MUM

A FOUR-year-old boy called the police on his own mother – after she scoffed his ice cream.

Hungry Dez Riel, who lives in Mount Pleasant, Wisconsin, dialled 911 in the hope of getting his dessert-swiping mum locked up.

"My mom is being bad," he told a Racine County dispatcher. "Come and get my mommy!"

As the dispatcher tried to figure out the issue, the boy's mother – LaKaydra Lowery – grabbed the phone and explained why she was in trouble.

"I ate his ice cream so that's probably why he's calling," she said as the boy moaned in the background.

Following the call, Mount Pleasant police officers stopped by the house where the youngster had a change of heart.

He told them he was still peeved he didn't have any ice cream, but didn't want to see his mum go to jail for it.

The officers returned the next day with the chilled treat and posed for a photo (left).

Loon attacks nurse, 74, to make escape

A MENTAL patient who said he was the "King and Queen of Ireland" was recaptured after a violent escape.

Christopher Morgan (above) was nabbed about 20 miles from the Garnet Health Medical Centre in Middletown, New York state, when an eagle-eyed onlooker spotted him outside a petrol station.

Authorities received several tip-offs from worried members of the public after Morgan made his dash for freedom on Thursday – on his 40th birthday.

Morgan allegedly attacked a 74-year-old hospital worker, leaving her needing stitches, and snatched her badge during the escape.

Police warned the public to stay away from him via Facebook.

Morgan, who is a schizophrenic, also claimed he was "700 to 2,000 years old" and "was upset that police killed Queen Elizabeth and that he wanted revenge".

Sir Tim

ERICA SMITH, 30H, FROM LIVERPOOL

By ANNETTE HUMPHREYS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

ON this day in 1989, an English computer boffin called Tim Berners-Lee sent a memo to his bosses at CERN – the Swiss-based particle physics lab.

The memo was about an information-sharing computer system that linked users all over the world.

And Berners-Lee, now 69, came up with the name – the World Wide Web.

Many scoffed at the idea and thought it would only be used for boffin chat.

How wrong they were.

Tim Berners-Lee had invented the internet – without doubt the most significant innovation of the modern age.

Now we can bank, order pizza and share photos of cats – all via Sir Tim's "electrical internet".

As it's also often used to view pics of naked ladies, we celebrate the internet's birthday with some of the biggest boobs on the Web!

#MY SEX FANTASY

'There's a side of me that wants to be a sex object'

...WITH DOROTHY BLACK, 34DD, FROM ABERDEEN

MY wildest sexual fantasy is a good old gangbang!
It's pretty much the main thing I watch on porn.
I get so turned on by the idea of being really slutty and being pounded by multiple guys, one after the other.
It's not what 'good girls' are supposed to do – we're meant to be all about romance and emotions... when we often just love a good, emotionally unattached fk as much as a bloke!
It's so raw and animalistic – the girl is able to act out her most naughty side.
I get aroused watching porn when the woman is behaving really wild and cock-starved.
I'd love a hard dick in my mouth, one banging away in my pussy and another in my tight bumhole while hands are all over me too.
There would be a queue forming to take turns.
I love a good bukkake video too. There's definitely a side of me that just wants to be used as a sex object.
Would I ever do it in real life? It's pretty out there.
But I think I need to indulge in my ultimate fantasy at least once before I die!
Then I'd know if it really floats my boat...

Teen plays sex tape to ex's mates

A TEEN was arrested after she allegedly showed a sex tape of her and her now former boyfriend to his pals and customers at a bar.

Taylor Jewell Richard is accused of airing the lewd footage of her and Michael Bassett to patrons at the District 249 Bar & Grill in Tomball, Texas, with intent to harm her ex.

Mr Bassett owned up to recording the Valentine's Day romp after 18-year-old Richard's urging and with the "confidence" of the video not being shown to anyone.

"She had me record it on her phone," Mr Bassett said. "I took those out of confidence, not thinking they would get out. I don't have an OnlyFans or anything. I don't sell pictures and stuff of my body."

Mr Bassett said he ended his relationship with Richard shortly after Valentine's Day and asked her to delete the footage from her mobile phone.

One of his friends was at the bar and alerted Mr Bassett of Richard's act.

'Insane' cop killed judge in chambers

A SHERIFF charged with gunning down a judge pal in his chambers plans to plead insanity at trial.

Sheriff Shawn "Mickey" Stines' legal team filed a notification that they're also gearing up to present evidence of extreme emotional disturbance in the death of District Judge Kevin Mullins.

The legal move comes after defence lawyer Jeremy Bartley previously claimed Stines was dealing with an "extreme emotional disturbance" when he pumped multiple gunshots into Judge Mullins, 54, in September inside the Letcher County Courthouse in Kentucky.

The attorney said there might be "more evidence that would support a finding that he wasn't criminally responsible".

Footage of the fatal shooting shows the top cop pulling out his gun and pointing it at the victim's head as the judge – a long-time friend of the sheriff – turns away and hides behind a desk.

The sheriff faced legal action in 2022 after a Letcher County deputy was accused of giving favourable treatment to a woman on home arrest in return for sexual favours in Mullins' office.

Feminists protest about something or other...

TITS OUT FOR TRUMP!

By SUZIE SHELDON

SAY what you like about the French, but they know how to protest.

While in Britain we usually get some smelly scruff climbing up the Houses of Parliament, French ladies are out baring their boobs in the street to get their point across.

A group of 40-odd women held demonstrations in Paris to protest against the rise of far-right forces and fascism in Europe.

The protests coincided with the International Women's Day celebrations at the weekend.

The women, belonging to the radical feminist group FEMEN, posed topless as part of their demonstrations, and some of them painted their bare breasts with Swastika and flags of the US, Russia and the European Union.

They also sported the slogan "fascist epidemic" on their bodies and called for a "feminist Europe".

The feminist outfit also tried to brand Vladimir Putin, Elon Musk and Donald Trump "fascists".

An onlooker said: "I have no idea what point they were making. I'm just here for the busters. Phwoar!"

Grisly end for pervert KILLER GRAN ATE NONCE'S COCK

VICTIM:

AN OAP has been nicked after she confessed to removing and eating a homeless nonce's heart and his knob.

Celso Marques Ferreira, 60, was found dead without his penis and part of his heart in a town square in the beach resort of Peruibe – a two-hour drive south of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

A blood-stained note was left alongside the perverted tramp's mutilated body, which said a woman known as "gringa" – the nickname suspect Josefa Lima de Sousa uses – was responsible.

Blood

A knife with dried blood on the blade was also found at the scene.

De Sousa, 65, is said to have confessed to the sickening crime after being held along with her partner.

She claimed she attacked her alleged victim after she learned he was a nonce.

She reportedly told cops she had eaten his penis and heart after cooking them.

The 41-year-old man also held, named locally as Robson Aparecido de Oliveira, has been linked to the crime by acquaintances who said that he had threatened Mr Ferreira shortly before he was killed.

However, he's denied any involvement in the victim's murder and mutilation but cops say they believe Josefa would have needed help to carry out the shocking acts she has confessed to and could not have acted alone.

Police are understood to be hunting a third man said to have taken part in the killing.

They have not yet commented on de Sousa's claims the victim had abused children.

Mr Ferreira and the two detainees lived on the street and are said to have regularly slept in the square where the victim's body was discovered.

NO SEX KILLS MEN OVER 40

EXPERTS warn that a lack of sex could kill you stone dead.

A Japanese study of 20,000 people over the age of 40 found men with low libido were two thirds more likely to die, compared to those with a high sex drive.

All participants were asked at the start of the study – published in the journal PLOS One – if they had "any interest in people of the opposite sex".

Answers of "no" were defined as lack of sexual interest.

Analysis found men who reported a lack of sexual appetite had a 69% higher risk of dying over the course of the study. And when looking at specific causes of death, men who didn't have sex were found to have a 72% higher chance of dying from cancer.

The study authors, from Yamagata University, said the research suggests a lack of sexual interest could increase the risk of death among older adult men.

They wrote: "Based on our results, lack of sexual interest itself contributes to an increased risk of all-cause mortality.

"This is independent of established risk factors in men over the age of 40."

SHE was one of the BIGGEST glamour modelling sensations of the 1980s and Nineties...

And now Natalie Jay is back with a BANG!

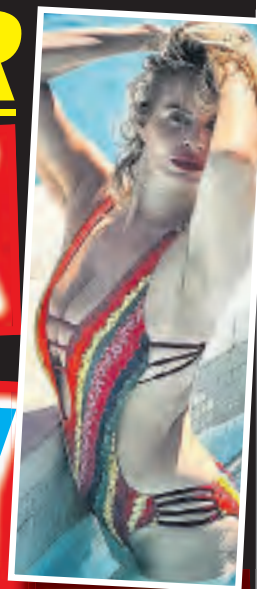

Aged 50, Natalie is bursting back onto the glamour scene after setting up her own Fanvue page.

She explained: "I thought, 'Why not?' and reading about Fanvue it seemed like the ideal platform for me to return to modelling."

Natalie hopes her page will be popular with her old fans and draw a new generation of admirers.

She explained: "There are probably 18 and 19-year-old lads out there whose dads used to look at my boobs in Sunday Sport back in the day."

"It's amazing to think I can still be modelling full-frontal."

Miss told 4 kids to beat up student

A TEACHER was held for encouraging primary school-aged children to "beat up" a classmate.

Geanene White, a supply at the YMCA Tiger Academy in Jacksonville, Florida, faces charges over an incident in which she asked and encouraged four students to take turns hitting and kicking another pupil.

The victim ignored a request from White, 57 (above), to split up into small groups to work – enraging the Miss, who resorted to violence.

"Who in here can beat him up?" White allegedly asked her young students.

Four kids then raised their hands to volunteer, and were called on by White to take turns to pummel the victim in class.

After the attacks, White then pushed the victim to the floor, causing him to hit his head on a desk.

The teacher then allegedly dragged the student across the ground by his collar and reported him to school authorities – claiming he was in need of "behavioural assistance".

White is facing several charges, including child abuse.

Tourists get town centre driving ban

AN idyllic town in Majorca has taken the bold step of banning tourists from driving around its historic centre – following large protests by locals over the build-up of traffic.

Soller, a traditional municipality of 14,000 people in the island's northwest, will now limit access to the town's 12 main streets to registered cars only from this year.

The council will bring in a "low emission zone" of 70 hectares, pushing hire cars to park further out and reduce congestion.

Under the new rules, only vehicles registered to residents will be allowed on central roads, with "some exceptions".

Visitors will have to park in "soon to be set up" areas of a detour road, which last year also suffered huge congestion.

Antoni Costa, the vice-president of the Balearic Government, has vowed to address persistent "overtourism" on the islands – warning "we cannot" carry on growing as the islands "have reached their limit".

The move comes amid growing discontent and protests against the impact of tourism in holiday hot spots.

WE'RE NOT CRINGING, LINDA!

LAYING INTO ONLYFANS: Linda (right) used to strip for a living

By SUZIE SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

PAGE Three icon Linda Lusardi says she now 'cringes' when she looks back at her time spent topless modelling.

The beauty, now 66, was one of Britain's best-loved glamour girls in the 1980s and 90s – posing for topless shoots for 12 years, from the age of 18.

And she's warned today's OnlyFans babes they could be haunted by appearing on the X-rated subscription site.

She said of the site: "It's not something I would entertain. I know that a lot of people are making a lot of money, but it just feels 'weird' to me."

"Because it isn't 'only' for the fans, is it? People can screenshot or film you and then it's out there to haunt you for the rest of your life."

"What if your life moves in a different direction?"

"I think sometimes the girls haven't thought about when they have children, who might well see their mother in a situation she later regrets."

"Even if you're not in a relationship, it could affect you when you meet someone."

"What if they have friends or family who have 'tuned into' you in the past?"

Underhand

"It feels a bit underhand."

The soap star and panto beauty acknowledged that her remarks could well sound "hypocritical" – given how she came to fame – but said there was an additional risk that some online subscribers could become "obsessed".

Linda added: "Maybe it's a bit hypocritical of me, and earning a living is fine, but what if someone got obsessed with you or found out where you lived?"

"If they're talking to them personally on there, I feel that would be a risk."

While Linda insisted she personally holds no regrets over her former career – branding it "great" because she was "young and enjoying life" – she admitted "it was a very different time" and wouldn't choose the same path if she could go back in time.

She said: "If I could speak to my 20-year-old self, I'd say, 'Don't take your clothes off' – become an actress instead."

Dear Sam,

I'VE been going short on sex lately, as my missus is happy just to sit in front of the telly watching crap soaps.

As a result, I've been spending more and more time in the pub with my mates and recently I pulled a bird in my local – she's 21, and I'm 38.

We had a few drinks and then she invited me back to her place. She wasted little time in getting my cock out and I soon had my seven-incher down her throat.

Just as I was about to blast off, she told me to stick it up her arse. I couldn't believe my luck and I pounded her hard and fast until we both climaxed.

Since then, however, she's been ringing my mobile and home number and my missus is starting to suspect something's up. What can I do to stop these calls?

AF, Newcastle

Sam says...

CHANGE your numbers!

Dear Sam,

I'M a 23-year-old car mechanic and the other day a gorgeous babe came into the garage where I work.

She's 22, with long, dark hair and massive tits and after a bit of flirting she gave me her number – telling me to drop her motor off at her flat later that night.

When I got there, she was already revved up and put her hands inside my overalls.

I was soon rock-hard and flipped her over to slip my shaft up her fanny. I went from zero to 60mph in pretty quick time and I soon squirted my man muck inside her.

But she wasn't finished. She massaged my gear stick back to hardness and took it down her throat until I shot my load again.

But the next day in work, my gaffer told me he'll service the next female punter. Help!

FT, Sussex

Sam says...

LOOKS like your sex drive has crashed!!

Bondage games brought lot of pain and little gain

Dear Sam,

MY hubby and I decided to try some bondage games – but they all turned out to be painful disasters.

He insisted I play a dominating role, so he bought me a black lacy basque which I wore with fishnet stockings and high heels.

I'm tall and perched on these stilettos I was a bit unstable. Add in the wine we'd drunk and it was no surprise when I toppled over, knocking the wind out of him as he lay on the bed waiting for horny action.

But we ploughed on and I tied him to the bed. He was bollock naked but his todger looked far from being ready for action.

I set to and gave what I thought were a few gentle whacks with my whip.

He was soon squealing in what I thought was ecstasy – but it turned out was agony.

By the time he'd managed to convince me of his plight, he was too sore to service me.

However, one thing did go right. I released his bonds and he tied me up instead and brought me to a series of shuddering orgasms, first with his fingers and then with his tongue.

We can laugh about it now, but should we should try any more bondage games?

HF, east Yorkshire

Sam says...

YES. But stick to what turns you on.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week SAM TYE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

I'm making up for lost sex time – with hubby's pal

Dear Sam,

ME and my husband have been married for 12 years and we seem to have hit a bit of a stale patch.

He's happy going to the pub with his mates – playing pool, watching every bloody football match that's on the TV and getting lashed – while I go out to the local clubs.

One Saturday night he'd gone for a drink and I went with my pals on our weekly knees-up.

We went to a few wine bars and by the time we got to a nightclub I was tipsy.

Ratted

I was standing at the bar when I felt a tap on my shoulder – and when I turned round it was my hubby!

He was with his best mate and they were absolutely ratted.

It seems they'd had a skinful in the pub and had jumped in a cab to town.

My fella was knocking back the whisky and I could tell that he'd soon collapse and be out for the count.

And sure enough he did – on to a table of drinks!

A couple of bouncers rushed over and carried him out as his pal staggered off behind them.

That was that, I thought, but then I saw his mate walking back towards me. He said he'd put my man in a taxi home and sneaked back into the club while the bouncers weren't looking.

So I took him to a quiet corner of the club, where it was pretty dark and no-one was around, in case the door staff saw him.

He seemed to sober up and he asked me for a dance when the DJ played some slow numbers.

As we danced closer and closer to each other he began to feel my arse and I didn't object – it was nice to get some male attention to be honest.

In fact, I decided to flirt back with him and ended up grabbing his stiffening manhood through his trousers.

We were both horny as hell, so we went back to his place where we stripped off and pounced on each other straight away.

He had a really nice, toned body – much better than my drunkard hubby.

And I gasped as he thrust his massive cock into my aching pussy.

That was the beginning of a sizzling sex session that lasted until dawn.

We even licked and sucked on each other in the 69 position – something I'd never tried before.

Then it was time to go back to my boring old husband.

But I've been seeing his mate for more sizzling sex sessions.

Am I a bit of a slag?

JR, Manchester

Sam says...

IF your fella wants to act like a prick, then keep on treating him like one.

I seized chance to play while wife was away

Dear Sam,

SINCE my wife had our first baby we've hardly had sex. She says that she's just not interested at the moment and I've tried to remain faithful to her.

But last month her best mate paid us a visit. We were alone as the missus had gone to stay with her mum for a few days – a fact I'm sure her mate was fully aware of – so I thought I'd try it on.

She was well up for it and before long we were in bed. She's got a great a body and massive tits and I couldn't wait to get my tongue around her stiff nipples.

After a bit of probing and teasing, she begged me to fk her. I have to say it was a real turn-on seeing my cock slide in and out of her wet pussy as I took her from behind until we both had an energetic climax.

Sticky

She then asked me to do her up the bum – something my wife has never let me do with her.

I was in heaven as I felt her sphincter relax and I pushed slowly in and out.

Later on she gave me blowjob and let me shoot my sticky wad all over her tits.

I try and see her as often as I can and the sex gets better every time.

She likes to do it in sexy lingerie and life with my wife is so boring I'm considering leaving her.

Her mate said she'll finish with her boyfriend and that I can move in with her.

What do you think?

PY, Dorset

Sam says...

IT'S your call.

Dear Sam,

MY girlfriend left her Facebook account logged in and out of curiosity I saw some private messages to some of her mates.

At first I was pretty smug, because she was saying lots of nice things about me, especially how good I was in the sex department.

But then I broke out into a cold sweat when I saw some messages saying how she thinks I am going to propose to her soon.

She says she can't wait to marry me and have my babies.

I was shocked beyond belief – we've only been together for a year and I'm in no way thinking about proposing any time soon!

I ended up going out with the lads down the pub and getting slaughtered to the point where I took the barmaid back to hers in a taxi and slept with her.

The next morning I regretted everything and can't believe I'd been so stupid.

To make matters even worse, the barmaid told everyone about our romp and it won't be long before my other half finds out.

Please help!

veronica ZEMANOVA

HORNY Veronica Zemanova has a secret lust for kinky bondage in the bedroom. The stunna says it really turns her on when her lover takes charge.

Veronica, who boasts a pair of all-natural 30Gs, prefers wild sex to romance and says that staring into each other's eyes and making slow love is just a bit boring for her.

The scorcher, from Chelsea in west London, added: "Kinky sex is always better for me."

"I like a man to start off romantically – by kissing my neck and seducing me – but then I need to have some real passion!"

"I quite like a bit of bondage – being tied up and blindfolded."

"I think role play would be fun too, but so far I've never tried it. Does anyone fancy helping me out?"

#HOT'N'HORNY

AS far as horny Annie Bullah is concerned, one sex partner just isn't enough.

Because the busty model revealed she's desperate to get frisky with a sexy couple.

And the brunette, from Loughton in Essex, reckons she'd perform a lesbian sex show for the lucky fella!

Annie, who boasts a huge pair of 32Fs, stripped off in these exclusive shots for Midweek Sport readers.

She said: "I had a threesome once and I really enjoyed it!

"It was something I did a while ago and I'd definitely like to do it again.

"They're just so hot and naughty. I think I'd want to do it with a guy and a girl, so that we could both pleasure the bloke together and then he could take turns with us!

"We'd put on a bit of a show for him, too.

"Girls are great lovers - they are so soft and sexy. They make me go weak at the knees!"

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport - where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see - TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service - UNIQUE to British newspapers - is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sunday-sport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

EMILY OLDFIELD

TOPLESS stunna Emily Oldfield was requested by Andy Heaton because he can't get enough of her cracking rack.

The 47-year-old steward, from Burnley, Lancs, reckons that every time he sees Emily's 34C boobs, he feels a stir in his pants.

We don't think he's the only one, as the Cambridge lassie is a favourite with our readers.

Andrew said: "She's just sensational."

"Every single time I see those gorgeous boobs, my cock just goes solid instantly."

"No other woman has that effect on me!"

HANNAH BUCKLE

SCOTTISH gardener Callum Clarke has tons of photos of glamour girls in his shed, but Hannah Buckle is his fave.

The 51-year-old, from Ayr, has a bevy of beauties pinned up among his tools – but Hannah's 32DDs take pride of place.

Hannah, from Guildford, Surrey, is the apple of Callum's eye and he said: "I've probably got about 50 girls in my shed, but their boobs are only wee compared to Hannah's!"

CASSIE SUMNER

CAR valet boss Dean Osborne might clean cars for a living, but says if he had a night with Cassie Sumner things would get dirty.

The 56-year-old business owner gets to clean celebrity supercars daily – but his fantasy involves glamour legend Cassie, from Chichester, West Sussex.

Dean, from Guildford, said: "If Cassie came in for a valet, I'd give her the full works."

"Although, things wouldn't get clean, it'd get dirty!"

"There'd be white stuff all over her boobs and it won't be shampoo!"

TOP TIPS FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

By MIKE FRANCIS

SOLNESS is backed to inflict what would be a third Cheltenham Festival defeat on hot favourite Jonbon in the BetMGM Queen Mother Champion Chase.

There is little doubt that Nicky Henderson's Jonbon is the star of the division, but it is impossible to ignore the fact that each of his three previous defeats have come in the Cotswolds.

It is not too difficult to explain the first two as he was blown away by his esteemed stablemate Constitution Hill in the Supreme Novices' Hurdle and found only an on-song El Fabiolo too strong in the Arkle, but his neck reverse to Elixir De Nutz in last year's Clarence House takes a bit more forgiving.

Jonbon jumped terribly that day and while connections can point out he has since won a second Shloer Chase at Cheltenham, a length-and-a-half defeat of Boothill is hardly earth shattering stuff.

If the Champion Chase were run at Ascot or Sandown the JP McManus-owned nine-year-old would be nigh on impossible to oppose, but on the undulations of Prestbury Park, he could be vulnerable.

The standard-setter on Irish form this season is Joseph O'Brien's Solness, who proved his maiden Grade One triumph at Leopardstown's Christmas meeting was no fluke when again dominating from the front at last month's Dublin Racing Festival.

Victory

The forecast sound surface should suit his heart-on-sleeve running style and if he gets into a similar jumping rhythm to what he has on his last couple of starts, he will take some pegging back.

Final Demand can provide Willie Mullins with a fourth successive victory and an eighth overall in the curtain-raising Turners Novices' Hurdle.

This son of Walk In The Park made a big impression on his rules debut at Limerick in December and successfully stepped up to Grade One level with a DRF demolition job.

The New Lion carries the hopes of the home team and is a top-class prospect in his own right, but Challow Hurdle winners have a dreadful record come Cheltenham in March and it is notable the handicapper has Final Demand 7lb clear on what they have achieved so far.

Mullins also houses the red-hot favourite for the Brown Advisory Novices' Chase in the form of Ballyburn, but he is perhaps worth taking on with his stablemate Dancing City.

It would be difficult to argue a case for Dancing City possessing more latent ability than Ballyburn, but the latter was being talked up as possible Arkle contender at the start of the season and would surely be taking the middle-distance option if it was still available.

Valuable

He was keener than ideal over two miles and five furlongs at Leopardstown last month and it could be that a race like the Brown Advisory over an extended three miles blunts his brilliance.

Dancing City, on the other hand, is all stamina, as proven by two Grade One novice hurdle wins over three miles last season and an all-the-way victory on his second start over fences at Naas last time.

In short, he looks the surer bet of the Closutton pair to see out what is usually a gruelling affair.

Joseph O'Brien's Comfort Zone won on his only previous visit to Cheltenham and catches the eye in the Coral Cup. The six-year-old was a promising third at the Dublin Racing Festival on what was his first start since winning a valuable Flat handicap in October and is open to improvement.

The Gavin Cromwell-trained Vanillier should go well in the

SOLNESS FIT FOR A QUEEN

Glenfarclas Cross Country Chase after bouncing back to form at Punchestown, while Unexpected Party could well repeat last year's victory in the Johnny Henderson Grand Annual Challenge Cup for the Skeltons.

Willie Mullins has an excellent record in the Weatherbys Champion Bumper with 13 victories, but does not always win it with his first string and this year his Grade Two-winning mare Bambino Fever may have been underestimated.

THURSDAY

IL EST FRANCAIS can gallop his rivals into submission in the Ryanair Chase, one of the highlights on day three of the Cheltenham Festival.

The seven-year-old was a Grade One hurdler winner in France but first came to the attention of British racegoers when making every yard of the running to lift the Kauto Star Novices' Chase at Kempton in 2023.

A Festival run never really looked likely last time and when he pulled up in an Auteuil Grade One in November, it looked as though the dream might already be over again.

However, Il Est Francois roared back from that wobble by again setting a searing pace in the King George back at Kempton on Boxing Day, only to just be outstayed by Banbridge, finishing a length and three-quarters back in second after a costly mistake at the last.

Pace

Better ground clearly suits him well and while Cheltenham's undulations are an unknown factor, the extended two-and-a-half-mile trip could well be perfect for him.

Fact To File is the stumbling block, but given he won a slow-ground Brown Advisory Novices' Chase last year, he might just find Il Est Francois' pace too much.

Teahupoo has followed the same route as last year as he defends his Paddy Power Stayers' Hurdle title.

Gordon Elliott's charge won the Hatton's Grace before triumphing at Cheltenham 12 months ago, negating a narrow defeat as favourite for the Stayers' in 2023.

Teahupoo found Lossiemouth too good in his Hatton's Grace return this term, but there is no shame in being beaten just under four lengths by a speedier rival who was also in receipt of 7lb.

Sixandahalf made quite a splash on her only start to date over obstacles and can now take a swift leap in level in the Ryanair Mares' Novices' Hurdle.

The five-year-old was a bumper winner at the Punchestown Festival last April before going on to score twice on the Flat, including a competitive fillies' handicap at Newmarket in August.

She signed off under that code

AT THE CHELTENHAM FESTIVAL

with a close-up third in the Irish Cesarewitch, with the form enough to see her well supported when making a winning hurdles bow at Fairyhouse in January.

The form is not exceptional but Sixandahalf could do little more than win by a comfortable 12 lengths, with seemingly plenty still to come.

Positive

Moon D'Orange registered his first fences success at Cheltenham on his latest run and despite a 4lb rise, he is still one for the shortlist in the Jack Richards Novices' Limited Handicap Chase.

Having twice finished in the places at Prestbury Park, he prevailed by just a short head in a premier handicap after getting the final obstacle all wrong, doing just enough to take the win.

Back over the same extended two and a half miles here, Moon D'Orange could offer some value with good ground a positive factor.

Doddiethegreat is worth a small interest in the Pertemps Network Final Handicap Hurdle after finishing second on his first attempt at three miles last time.

That marked something of a return to form after two pulled-up runs, but he is on a fair mark with staying trips perhaps now his forte.

Jagwar has won three of his four fences starts and can further augment those figures in the TrustATrader Plate Handicap Chase.

Trainers Oliver Greenall and Josh Guerriero also had the choice of the novice heat on this card, so the hint should be taken as they opt to tackle full company.

Midnight Our Fred is the pick in the Fulke Walwyn Kim Muir Challenge Cup Amateur Jockeys' Handicap Chase after a cracking run at Leopardstown over Christmas. The winner, Perceval Legallois, is among the leading Grand National contenders following a hurdles win while Nick Rockett is also on the Aintree after two trial wins.

CALL-UP: Ojomoh

Ojomoh gets Red Rose call

ENGLAND have called up uncapped Bath centre Max Ojomoh as a replacement for the injured Ollie Lawrence ahead of Saturday's Guinness Six Nations clash with Wales.

Lawrence confirmed on Monday that he has been ruled out for the rest of the season after scans on a rupture to his left Achilles suffered during the first half of Sunday's win over Italy.

Lawrence wrote on social media: "Lost for words... That's not how I imagined my season to end!"

"Extremely grateful to have such an amazing partner, family and friends around me to take on this next chapter. The comeback is always greater than the setback."

His Bath team-mate Ojomoh, son of former England back row Steve, fills the hole created in Steve Borthwick's 35-man squad that is preparing for the climax to the tournament in Cardiff.

The England 'A' international has appeared in senior squads before but has yet to be capped by Borthwick.

Lawrence sustained his injury as he accelerated to join an attack in the eighth minute of the Allianz Stadium showdown and after collapsing to the floor in pain, he was driven from the field on the medical cart.

England shifted Elliot Daly from full-back to outside centre to plug the gap and the versatile Saracens is an option to start alongside Fraser Dingwall against Wales.

Henry Slade was dropped for the Italy clash and could be restored to the midfield, while rookie Oscar Beard and wing Tommy Freeman are also alternatives.

■ JAMISON Gibson-Park feels "very privileged" to have learnt from Ireland scrum-half Conor Murray.

Munster player Murray is poised to make a 125th and final appearance for his country during Saturday's Six Nations finale away to Italy.

New Zealand-born Gibson-Park is favourite to wear the number nine jersey for the Lions in Australia this summer after replacing Murray as first-choice for Ireland in 2021.

"He's been unbelievable and he's such a great guy - I've been very privileged to play with him," said the 33-year-old Leinster player. "He was one of the best in the world for the guts of 10 years."

Dragons lose two key men

WALES have suffered a double blow ahead of their Guinness Six Nations finale against England with wings Tom Rogers and Josh Adams being released from the squad due to injuries.

Rogers suffered a fractured thumb during the 35-29 loss to Scotland at Murrayfield and was forced off after just 10 minutes.

Adams, meanwhile, sustained a hamstring injury in training and has not featured since the opening two Six Nations games.

Injury

"Rogers sustained a fractured thumb against Scotland at the weekend that requires surgery, while Adams is released due to a hamstring injury in training that requires a period of rehabilitation that will be undertaken at his club," the Welsh Rugby Union said.

Wales saw the pair's fellow back-three player Liam Williams ruled out of the tournament after he suffered a knee injury in the competition opener against France.

Interim head coach Matt Sherratt has opted not to call anyone into his squad, with 21-year-old Gloucester wing Josh Hathaway now a potential starter on Saturday.

Sherratt could also consider moving Hathaway's Gloucester colleague Max Llewellyn from the centre, or pick Joe Roberts - Rogers' Murrayfield replacement - in a wing role.

But a call-up for three-cap Hathaway seems the most likely option as Wales bid to avoid a 17th successive Test defeat and 11th Six Nations loss on the bounce.

England, in contrast, will arrive at the Principality Stadium as title contenders, although a France victory over Scotland later on Saturday would guarantee Les Bleus Six Nations silverware.

Wales assistant coach Neil Jenkins made his Test debut against England in

CROCKED:
Josh Adams

1991, and eight years later kicked a last-gasp conversion of Scott Gibbs' try that denied Clive Woodward's team a Grand Slam at Wembley.

And Jenkins has no doubt where the fixture traditionally lies in terms of its importance to both countries.

"It's the game that everyone dreams of playing in as a young kid. I certainly did when I was growing up," former Wales fly-half Jenkins said.

"Then I was lucky enough to win my first cap against England in Cardiff in 1991. It's a massive game, and that never changes, not just for us but for everyone."

"They will be looking forward to coming here because they have got something to play for. But we've also got something to play in trying to get that win."

"There is definitely no greater motivation for a Welsh side than playing against an England team going for something." Wales' last Test match victory came against 2023 World Cup pool opponents Georgia, and Warren Gatland departed as head coach following a dismal 22-15 loss to Italy last month.

Sherratt's three-game stint will come to an end after England's Cardiff visit, although he has undoubtedly made an impact, instilling a confidence and creativity that was previously lacking.

Perform

On the last 18 months, Jenkins added: "It has been tough - a roller-coaster ride. It hasn't been easy, but you keep your head down, stay professional and work as hard as you can to make the players better."

"I know it is tough when you are not winning and things don't go your way, but at some point it will turn around."

"It would be brilliant if it turned on Saturday, and it would be lovely to perform and win at home, especially against England in front of our own fans."

GOOD GOLLY MISS MOLLY

MOLLY Caudery will defend her women's pole vault title at the World Indoor Championships in Nanjing next month.

The 24-year-old is one of 13 athletes named in the Great Britain and Northern Ireland team after skipping last week's European Indoor Championships in Apeldoorn.

Caudery clinched gold in Glasgow in March last year but could not replicate her form at the Paris Olympics where she crashed out after failing to make the final.

Jeremiah Azu, who won Britain's only gold in Apeldoorn in the men's 60m, will compete in the same event in China alongside European bronze medalist Andy Robertson.

ATHLETICS

Other European medallists named in the squad include Reeve Walcott-Nolan, who won bronze in the women's 1500m, and men's 3000m silver medallist George Mills.

Competing alongside Walcott-Nolan will be Georgia Hunter Bell, who won a bronze medal in Paris just three years after her return to the sport.

CUP DREAM: Guimarães

Big Bruno fancies a Carabao knockout

By PAUL THOMAS

NEWCASTLE's Bruno Guimarães called on his team-mates to make history in their "World Cup" on Sunday when they face Liverpool in the Carabao Cup final.

Guimarães scored the only goal as the team warmed up for Wembley with victory over West Ham, a win that moved them sixth in the Premier League and two points outside the top four.

Eddie Howe's side had risked going into Sunday's showpiece in poor form having lost three of their previous four in the league as well as being dumped out of the FA Cup by Brighton.

That feeling altered dramatically following a win and performance in which they were comfortably the better side at the London Stadium and ought to have won by more.

It has been 70 years since Newcastle's last major trophy, and Guimarães said the enormity of the occasion is not lost on the team.

"We have seen people, doubters," he said. "We are focusing on ourselves. Missing Anthony Gordon, Lewis Hall and Sven Botman is not good for us, but to have players who can play well. Today we showed we have a strong squad."

"I believe that we can win. In a final everything could happen. I believe our fans can make a difference for us."

"For us, it is like the World Cup. We want to make history for this club. It is a long time for the fans without a trophy."

Newcastle were beaten on their last appearance in the Carabao Cup final by Manchester United, losing 2-0 in February of 2023 as their long wait for silverware wore on.

They also lost back-to-back FA Cup finals by the same score in 1998 to Arsenal and in 1999 to United. Prior to that, their previous appearance in one of the two major domestic cup finals had come in 1976 when they lost the League Cup to Manchester City.

"I think it is massive for the club's history, and we want to be part of it," Guimarães said. "We know we're going to play against one of the best teams. Hopefully we can go to Wembley and get the title."

SKIPPER HUNT

Who will take over from Buttler at England?

ENGLAND are on the hunt for a new white-ball captain following Jos Buttler's resignation a fortnight ago and director of men's cricket Rob Key is considering all options.

Here, Midweek Sport looks at who is in the frame.

HARRY BROOK (right)

The most likely candidate given his age, profile and recent withdrawal from the Indian Premier League, allowing him a bit of down time ahead of a mammoth few months.

An all-format regular who has a lot on his plate, Brook struggled in India and at the Champions Trophy.

But his pedigree is unquestionable, he has served as Buttler's deputy and impressed as stand-in skipper against Australia last September.

CRICKET

BEN STOKES

Stokes excelled beyond all expectations leading the Test side and could have a similarly transformative impact if he takes the ODI reins, leaving Brook free for the T20 mantle. But with England's crucial Test engagements coming up, can they afford to roll the dice with his fitness following serious knee and hamstring injuries in the last couple of years? Key believes it would be "stupid" not to consider the all-rounder, whose last outing for England in coloured clothing was at the 2023 World Cup.

PHIL SALT

A dashing opener who seems tailor-made for the 'Bazball' ethos, he could gel well with head coach Brendon McCullum and would be available for every assignment because he is not in the Test set-up. But, after making just one fifty in his last 11 outings, his spot in the side is up for debate, especially in ODIs. Might be a better fit to oversee the T20 side only, as he did against Australia last year.

LIAM LIVINGSTONE

As with Salt, Livingstone could find his place in the ODI side threatened following a modest start to 2025, with his shot selection in the difficult role of finishing the innings heavily criticised. But a brief captaincy spell in the Caribbean before Christmas brought the best out of him as a sparkling 124 not out in Antigua helped England claim what would prove to be their only ODI victory over the winter.

BEN DUCKETT

One of the few batters to emerge from England's dismal run since the turn of the year in credit, cementing himself as their opener across all three formats. More of an unknown quantity as captain and, as with Brook, England should be cautious about adding to the handers' responsibilities in a busy year.

SAM CURRAN

England have not ruled out looking outside the current set-up and Curran's stock has risen being out of the team. Player of the tournament in England's 2022 T20 World Cup triumph, Curran's lack of pace has seemingly left him out in the cold in this era. But the wily left-armer can be a point of difference to the 90mph quicks and he has captaincy experience in the Indian Premier League and at Surrey.

GREATEST STADIUM IN WORLD

Man United unveil incredible plans for 100,000 seater 'New Trafford' ground

MANCHESTER United have announced plans for a new 100,000-seater stadium that co-owner Sir Jim Ratcliffe says would be the "world's greatest" football ground.

The Premier League club have been examining whether to redevelop their Old Trafford home or build a new stadium in the same area in conjunction with the Old Trafford Regeneration Task Force. United have now confirmed their "intention to pursue a new 100,000-seater stadium as the centrepiece of the regeneration of the Old Trafford area". Scale models and images for how the new Old Trafford and surrounding area could look like were revealed at the London headquarters of architects Foster + Partners, appointed in September to design the stadium district. "Today marks the start of an incredibly exciting journey to the delivery of what will be the world's greatest football stadium, at the centre of a regenerated Old Trafford," Ratcliffe said. "Our current stadium has served us brilliantly for the past 115 years, but it has fallen behind the best arenas in world sport. "By building next to the existing site, we will be able to preserve the essence of Old Trafford, while creating a truly state-of-the-art stadium that transforms the fan experience only footsteps from our historic home. "Just as important is the opportunity for a new stadium to be the catalyst for social and economic renewal of the Old Trafford area, creating jobs and investment not just during the construction phase but on a lasting basis when the stadium district is complete. "The Government has identified infrastructure investment as a strategic priority, particularly in the north of England, and we are proud to be supporting that mission with this project of national, as well as local, significance." Strive The move to a new ground has been backed by former United boss Sir Alex Ferguson. "Manchester United should always strive for the best in everything it does, on and off the pitch, and that includes the stadium we play in," Ferguson said. "Old Trafford holds so many special memories for me personally, but we must be brave and seize this opportunity to build a new home, fit for the future, where new history can be made." Andy Burnham, the mayor of Greater Manchester, formed part of the task force and believes a new stadium at the heart of the area's regeneration can benefit the city, region and entire country. He said: "If we get this right, the regeneration impact could be bigger and better than London 2012." United estimate the stadium and wider regeneration project has the potential to add an extra £7.3 billion each year to the UK economy, with the possibility to create more than 17,000 homes and 92,000 jobs. Chief executive Omar Berrada says the club's long-term objective is to have "the world's best football team playing in the world's best stadium. We have carefully considered findings, together with the views of thousands of fans and local residents and concluded that a new stadium is the right way forward for Manchester United and our community," he said.

By JOHN ANTHONY

But Man United Supporters Trust has raised concerns about what the building of a new stadium might mean for fans.

News

The announcement came two days after a major fans' protest against increased ticket prices and the wider running of the club, while United continue to struggle on the pitch.

A MUST spokesperson said: "The announcement of plans to build a brand new stadium adjacent to Old Trafford is clearly very big news for United fans. "Everyone wants the biggest and the best for our club and the visuals look stunning.

"But, against the backdrop of uncertainty around next year's ticket prices, poor performance on the field, speculation around sales of key young players, and the recent financial results, the news probably does beg more questions than it gives clear answers.

"As our own and the club's consultations have shown, the answer to whether United fans want to refurbish Old Trafford or build a new ground depends entirely on what the consequences of the decision are.

"So, now that decision has been made, fans will need to be consulted all along the way on the key features that impact match-going fans' experience and atmosphere.

"Whilst investment is much needed and welcome, fans remain anxious about what it means and what the consequences will be.

"Will it drive up ticket prices and force out local fans? Will it harm the atmosphere, which is consistently fans' top priority in the ground?

"Will it add to the debt burden which has held back the club for the last two decades? Will it lead to reduced investment in the playing side at a time when it is so badly needed?

"We look forward to further consultation with supporters and discussing these vital questions with the club."

CLARKE TURNS TO YOUNGSTERS

SCOTLAND head coach Steve Clarke has handed debut call-ups to teenage duo Lennon Miller and James Wilson.

Motherwell midfielder Miller and Hearts striker Wilson, both 18, are included in the squad for this month's UEFA Nations League play-off double-header against Greece.

Miller captained Motherwell for a spell this season and made his 67th first-team appearance in their win over Rangers at Ibrox earlier this month.

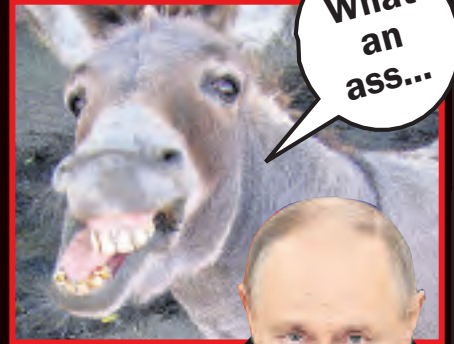

Wilson has become a first-team regular for Hearts this term and has scored six goals. He is named in the full squad without having played for the Under-21s.

Max Johnston of Sturm Graz and Ipswich goalkeeper Cieran Slicker are the other two uncapped players in the squad.

Kevin Nisbet has won a recall after scoring the 10th goal of his loan spell at Aberdeen on Saturday.

Arteta: We're not Gunner give up

MIKEL Arteta insists Arsenal are focused on "fighting to win every game" despite their title dream looking increasingly fragile.

The Gunners trail leaders Liverpool by 15 points after their 1-1 draw with Manchester United on Sunday extended their winless league run to three matches.

With hopes of a first league title since 2004 slipping away, the north London club's best chance of securing silverware is in European competition.

"We are going to carry on fighting to win every game," said Spanish coach Arteta. "There are the demands we put on ourselves in every competition, we are very much conscious that the demands for this football club are to reach the highest level and to win football matches.

"There's always improvement, we have talked about what we can do better, it's about execution. My job is to give the players as many tools so we can deliver again."

Gunners stopper William Saliba added: "I think we are very close, we need to keep going.

"We can't stop working. When you're close and don't win trophies it's sad, with work we will make a big step and I am sure we will arrive there."
